

Spectrum Visual Insights Additional Terms:

If you have licensed Spectrum Visual Insights, in addition to the terms in your license agreement, the following additional terms apply:

The Product may contain or be accompanied by certain third-party components that are subject to additional restrictions, including open source technology subject to various open source licenses. These components, if any, are identified in, and subject to, special license terms and conditions set forth in the Documentation, the “[readme].txt” file, the “[notices.txt]” file, a “Legal” file or another electronic file accompanying the Product (“Special Notices”). The Special Notices include important licensing and warranty information and disclaimers. In the event of conflict between the Special Notices and the other portions of your license agreement, the Special Notices will take precedence (but solely with respect to the third party component(s) to which the Special Notice relates).